FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Expands current portfolio of Carl Hansen & Son products with two new offerings

Chicago, IL – Coalesse, the leader in bringing new life to work, is pleased to announce the addition of two new seating collections to their current portfolio of Carl Hansen & Son products: CH88 and CH468 Oculus chairs. Keeping with Coalesse's commitment to "comfort and craft", Carl Hansen products combine traditional woodworking techniques with the latest manufacturing advancements to produce furniture with the highest quality and aesthetics, making these products a perfect complement to the Coalesse portfolio.

CH88 is versatile both in terms of its appearance and usability as a result of its numerous finish and frame options. The upper structure features a steam-bent wooden backrest with slight curvatures at the ends providing back support and a natural resting place for the arms. And the new, stackable design, offers a solution for mobility and smaller spaces. CH88 is available in beech and oak in a range of finishes. The frame is available in stainless steel, black powder coating and chrome, and the seat with optional leather or fabric upholstery. The combination of materials, along with a minimalist design results in a light and organic industrial expression.

A sought-after and sculptural lounge chair designed by Hans J. Wegner in 1960 but not put into production until 2010, the CH468 chair is also known as "The Oculus". Oculus is Latin for eye, and refers to the curved back, which forms an "eye" in the upholstery. The chair's comfortable round, roomy upholstered back and large armrests provide a striking contrast to the crafted stainless steel legs. CH468 Oculus is available upholstered in leather or fabric and features a solid beech frame.
